
Announcements

- Don't forget that Exam I will be held on Wednesday, February 26, from 8:30pm – 9:30pm. Everything we have covered or is covered in the text before the exam date is fair game for the exam. That will include Chapters 1 through Chapter 11 of the text, and whatever portion of Chapter 12 we complete in lecture on Wednesday.
- The exam will certainly be closed book. Do not even bring your book or notes to class!
- You will be permitted to bring one 3" × 5" index card of notes – no larger – to the exam.
- Photo IDs will be checked during the exam, so have your ID available and in sight.
- Be sure to read the class policy on cheating that appears on the syllabus on the web site!

Announcements

- You will need a simple calculator capable of performing basic arithmetic operations, including square roots. You may not use your cell phone, computer, or pda for this purpose. Do NOT bring a programmable calculator or one with built in statistical functions.

You may NOT borrow a calculator, and proctors will not give out loaners. It is your responsibility to check that your batteries are functioning.

Simple calculators are still available for about $4.00 now (they are cheaper at the start of the semester) at stores like Staples, Walmart, and the campus bookstore. You need something that looks like these:

Announcements

- You will be expected to use the tables (which will be provided) for computations involving the normal curve, and you will be expected to compute other values (mean, median, percentiles) directly – not using a programmed calculator function. Using a programmed calculator function is prohibited, and may result in an answer different from the tables.
- You may not use a laptop or pad computer, cell phone, pda, or other electronic device. If you bring any such device to class, it must be powered off and stowed away out of sight.
- You should not bring anything to the exam room other than your ID card, 3×5 card, elementary calculator, and writing tools. Do not bring your text, notes, or other printed materials.

Announcements

- We will be using Lecture Halls 1, 2, and 8 (LH001, LH0002, and LH008) for the exam. Sections will be assigned to the lecture halls, and exams will be placed on seats in advance. (I will announce the room assignments on the class web site and in lecture on Monday and Wednesday.)
- The exams will already have student names on them, so it is important that you sit in the correct seat with the correct exam!
- Exams will be placed on seats in advance and be arranged alphabetically.
- You should come prepared, already knowing your section number and name (duh).
- Doors will open when the seats are all ready, probably around 8:15pm. Once doors are open, find your designated seat quickly and efficiently.
- Once everyone is properly seated and IDs are checked we will begin the exam. The working time for the exam is one hour. Do not begin until instructed. Stop IMMEDIATELY when instructed.